DISCUSSES BILL ON PLANNED CONTRACTS

The committee has ordered the creation of special departments in all ministries to prepare the ground for contract negotiations and to instruct subordinates as to the procedure to be followed in planning contract negotiations.

The State Economic Planning Commission in cooperation with the chief of the Arbitration Commission will coordinate the activities of these departments.

In 1950, there will be three types of planned contracts: general, specific, and direct contracts.

General contracts will be between central administrations of industries, associations, central sales offices, and central boards of state and cooperative institutions. These contracts will list the rights and obligations of the interested parties and will specify the goods to be delivered, and the terms of distribution of goods among units controlled by the enterprise. The contracts will also state what responsibility is delegated to subordinate enterprises.

Specific contracts will be between enterprises which are under the jurisdiction of the larger organizations required to negotiate general contracts. Specific contracts will cover in detail the nature of the services to be given by both parties, the date, place, and manner of execution, and the amount of indemnity to be paid in case of nonfulfillment.

Direct contracts will be concluded by enterprises which are not under the jurisdiction of organizations required to negotiate general contracts.

Within the coming month, individual agencies will submit to the chairman of the State Economic Planning Commission drafts of typical contracts and terms to serve as patterns for the planned contracts.
